

Ladies, we are excited to announce that the production has begun on the documentary that will balance great minds of medicine and science, along with rich, human-interest stories.

We will listen to the wisdom of 100-year old centenarians, journey with women who are facing cancer and better understand heart disease and other ailments. Learn the power of a nurturing mother and the value of lifelong relationships that women share with each other.

Some of the areas of focus for The Embrace of Aging about women will be:

- Aging sexuality
- Alternative / holistic health
- Arthritis / osteoporosis
- Brain disorders / dementia
- Breast / ovarian cancer
- Centenarians / Blue Zone
- Cosmetic enhancement
- Friendships
- Having a purpose
- Heart disease
- Independent living (as a widow)
- Inspirational women
- Lifestyle weight management
- Loving relationships
- Menopause / metabolic
- Regenerative medicine
- Rich, human-interest stories
- Spirituality as we age

We are sure the series will help women gain new insight to their own personal journey of aging. This will be a documentary every man will need to see to better understand the women in their lives.

Getting old is not fun for anyone, but it is a journey most of us will have to take. Let's learn together how women can better embrace the aging process.

To watch the trailer for the film and view the website, go to www.embraceofaging.com.

March 25, 2013

Mr. Keith Famie
Executive Documentary Producer - Visionalist Entertainment Productions
28345 Beck Rd, Ste 404
Wixom MI 48393

Dear Mr. Famie:

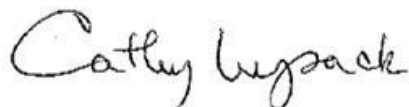

It was a pleasure to meet you and learn more about your Embrace of Aging films. I am particularly excited about your new film that will focus on women's aging!

As you know, the number of older adults is expanding very quickly and our society is not really aware of or ready for the significant impacts this demographic group will have. A rapidly aging society will challenge the health care system for sure, but it will also transform the experience of aging and what it means to be old. Aging Americans, especially the Baby Boomers, are also the best educated and political active older adults ever, which will make for exciting times.

As an occupational therapist working in hospital and community settings for many years, I know many older adults will confront some serious health problems in later life. That said, old age is not only a time of physical frailty and loss. There is a great deal of research that shows older adults are and wish to be meaningfully engaged and productive in later life. The public needs to hear this message and see examples of older adults living well, enjoying their lives, and contributing to the welfare of others.

Thank you for bringing the subject of aging, and in now aging women, to a public audience through film. Your storytelling skill will inspire us all to think much more positively about aging. I look forward to working with you on this important task!

Sincerely,

Cathy Lysack, Ph.D., OT(C)
Deputy Director, Institute of Gerontology &
Professor of Occupational Therapy

University of Michigan
Comprehensive Cancer Center

Anne F. Schott, M.D.
Clinical Associate Professor

Internal Medicine
Hematology/Oncology

MIB C349
1500 E. Medical Center Dr., SPC 5848
Ann Arbor, MI 48109

(734) 936-4991 academic office
(734) 936-6000 appointments
(734) 936-4940 fax

aschott@med.umich.edu

April 12, 2013

Mr. Keith Famie
Executive Documentary Producer
Visionalist Entertainment Productions
28345 Beck Road, Suite 404
Wixom MI 48393

Dear Mr. Famie:

I was excited to learn about your upcoming Embrace of Aging film, and am honored to be included in this film focused on women and aging.

From my perspective as a medical oncologist specializing in breast cancer, I think your decision to include stories of women living through a breast cancer diagnosis is a wonderful idea! In general, the diagnosis of cancer becomes more likely as we age, and stories about breast cancer in particular will touch on many dilemmas associated with female aging. Breast cancer survivors face and overcome challenges with regard to body image, early menopause, and recognition of their mortality – all providing strong messages and inspiration for your audience.

Your film can provide a powerful and inspirational message to an audience of women of all ages, and I look forward to this exciting project.

Sincerely,

Anne F. Schott, MD
Associate Professor

University of Michigan
Medical School

109 Zina Pitcher Place
Room 5017

A. Alfred Taubman Biomedical
Science Research Building
Ann Arbor, MI 48109-2200
t 734-615-7282
f 734-615-7466
taubmaninstitute@umich.edu
www.taubmaninstitute.org

FOUNDER AND CHAIR
A. Alfred Taubman

DIRECTOR
Eva L. Feldman, M.D., Ph.D.

MANAGING DIRECTOR
Martin A. Fischhoff

SCHOLARS
Nicholas M. Boulis, M.D.
Frank C. Brosius, M.D.
Ronald J. Buckanovich, M.D., Ph.D.
Charles F. Burant, M.D., Ph.D.
Valerie P. Castle, M.D.
Arul M. Chinnaiyan, M.D., Ph.D.
James J. Dowling, M.D., Ph.D.
Eva L. Feldman, M.D., Ph.D.
Thomas W. Gardner, M.D., M.S.
David Ginsburg, M.D.
Johann E. Gudjonsson, M.D., Ph.D.
Theodore S. Lawrence, M.D., Ph.D.
Erika A. Newman, M.D.
Kenneth J. Pienta, M.D.
David J. Pinsky, M.D.
Max S. Wicha, M.D.

A. ALFRED TAUBMAN
MEDICAL RESEARCH INSTITUTE
where scientists create cures

May 27, 2013

Mr. Keith Famie
Executive Producer
Visionalist Entertainment Productions
28345 Beck Road, Suite 404
Wixom, Michigan 48393

Dear Mr. Famie:

I had the pleasure of looking at some of the footage that you have shot for your series, Embrace of Aging. I am duly impressed. I think this is a very timely and useful project, which will help the ever increasing number of elder Americans deal more effectively with the issues that come with the inevitable process of getting old.

As a neurologist, I work every day with aging citizens and I am constantly amazed at how some are better equipped and better prepared for this phase of their lives. There is no reason that for most of us these latter years can't be some of the most rewarding and stimulating. Your films can do an incredible service in teaching older Americans and their families how to make the most of them.

I am extremely happy to be working with you on this series. Your ability to create a meaningful and very human narrative around such issues is a true gift. Women have a very unique set of concerns and opportunities as they mature. I look forward to exploring with you how remarkable women face these challenges.

With warm regards,

Eva L. Feldman, M.D., Ph.D.
Russell N. DeJong Professor of Neurology
Director, A. Alfred Taubman Medical Research Institute
Director, Program for Neurology Research & Discovery